

Client Rights and Safeguards Policy

Purpose

The purpose of this policy is to define Early Start Australia's (ESA) position to promote, enhance and protect our clients' human rights; decision making, choice and control; right to informed consent, safety and wellbeing; and citizenship and quality of life.

Scope

This policy applies to all ESA services, employees, volunteers, contractors and clients.

Definitions

Dignity of risk: autonomy and self-determination used by a person when making decisions, including the choice to take some risks in life.

Informed Consent: voluntary agreement and willing acceptance of a proposition and following action where the person making the decision has appropriate information and capacity to make the decision free of fear or influence.

Choice and Control: a participant has the right to make their own decisions about what is important to them and to decide how they would like to receive their supports and who from.

Policy Statement

Human Rights

ESA believes that each person with a disability is unique and a person of value and is entitled to the same rights and privileges as every other Australian citizen. This is supported by:

- Information being available for clients, their families, friends, carers and advocates on rights and available safeguards.
- Relevant training for staff to ensure that they understand and ensure that human rights are protected.

Refer also to the Staff Code of Conduct, Cultural Security for Clients Policy, Access, Eligibility and Equity Policy, and the Service Agreements Policy.

Decision Making, Choice & Control

ESA ensures that clients have choice and control over their lives by being involved in, and having influence over, decisions that affect them. Specifically, ESA:

- Respects the rights of people with disabilities in having dignity of risk, and of exercising choice and control about matters that affect them.
- Advises clients (and others as appropriate) about the full range of ESA services (and, where applicable, other relevant services not provided by ESA).
- Supports each client's right to access an advocate, and appropriately engages with client advocates where relevant.
- Involves clients (and others as appropriate) during the individual planning process and in the therapy process, from goal setting to decisions about activities and games.
- Supports and empowers clients (and others as appropriate) to make informed choices and decisions about their own life.
- Structures its services to be flexible and responsive to individuals needs and preferences.
- Accommodates, where possible, the client's service preferences and choices.
- Affirms that people with disability are assumed to have capacity to make decisions, exercise choice, and provide informed consent.

Client Rights and Safeguards Policy

Clients of ESA are encouraged to be involved in decision making and to exert choice and control. This is supported by:

- Information being available for clients, their families, friends, carers and advocates for them to make informed decisions regarding their services.
- Relevant training for staff to ensure that they understand and ensure choice and control for clients.

Refer also to the Service Agreements Policy.

Safety and Wellbeing

Clients have the right to receive services from ESA without threat, intimidation or abuse from staff, other clients, or from any other person. Clients have the right to not be neglected or exploited by ESA. ESA has processes in place to ensure client safety and service quality.

Clients of ESA are supported to ensure their safety and wellbeing. This is supported by:

- Information being available for clients, their families, friends, carers and advocates about safety and wellbeing.
- Relevant training for staff to ensure that they understand and ensure client safety and wellbeing.

Refer also to Quality Policy, Critical Incidents Policy and Procedure, Eliminating Restrictive Practices Policy, Child Protection Policy, Employee Registration and Screening Policy, and the Safe Environment for Participants Policy and Procedure.

Citizenship & Quality of Life

ESA supports clients to develop and maintain skills and the opportunity to participate in activities that enable them to achieve valued roles in the community, recognising their unique skills, lifestyle preferences, personal aspirations and support needs. People with a disability have the right to be included in meaningful ways in their community including in the areas of learning, work, leisure, and relationships. ESA supports individuals to actively participate in their community in a way which is meaningful to them and which promotes a valued role for the individual. ESA's client services:

- Provide opportunities for inclusion and participation with members of the community, and in inclusive community activities.
- Provide opportunities for individuals to actively contribute to their community.
- Ensure there is an awareness of and sensitivity to an individual's cultural beliefs and background which will include providing opportunities for the individual to make meaningful connections with culturally appropriate groups.
- Promote a collaborative approach with the individual, their family and friends to provide opportunities for community inclusion and participation.
- Encourage partnerships with other organisations and community members to provide opportunities for individuals to actively participate in and play a meaningful role in their community.

Clients of ESA are encouraged to undertake their valuable role within their communities. This is supported by:

- Information being available for clients, their families, friends, carers and advocates for them to ensure their engagement and participation.
- Relevant training, mentoring, and supervision for staff to provide contemporary services such as training in life skills, social interaction, community participation and inclusion.

Roles and Responsibilities

In support of this policy, ESA ensures:

Client Rights and Safeguards Policy

- Training and developing for staff to determine individual vulnerability, risk, duty of care and dignity of risk, and to determine and facilitate the implementation of the range of safeguarding strategies available.
- All staff adhere to mandatory reporting requirements. Refer also to the Critical Incidents Policy and Procedure.
- Service provision is monitored to detect deficits in safeguarding practices.
- An effective complaints and feedback mechanism is in place. Refer also to the Feedback and Complaints Policy.
- An effective incident reporting system is in place. Refer also to the Critical Incidents Policy and Procedure.
